EXPLANATION OF THE GENEALOGIES

THESE GENEALOGIES (1749-1963) are based on Town and Church records supplemented by material from newspaper reports, records of deeds, census records, Aldrich's "Walpole As It Was and As It Is", histories of adjacent towns, and gravestones. We believe we have copied data from every legible gravestone in the town. We have had additional data furnished by families in response to a direct mailing to all residents and notices in the newspaper requesting genealogical information.

Unfortunately, there are bound to be errors. Early writings are not always clearly legible. Frequently they do not agree. Distinguishing between Jr and Sr, changing of given names or use of nicknames, the erratic spelling in the early days, and translation of given and surnames from a foreign language into English present the problems with which all genealogists are acquainted. Add to this the probability of error in transcribing and copying this massive amount of material, upward of 30,000 names, and error is bound to result. We trust the benefit most readers will derive will far outweigh the annoyance of the few who find mistakes.

These genealogies begin with the establishment of the family in Walpole and continue until the family has discontinued its connection with the town. The name of the founder is in capitals, followed by his place and date of birth and death, names of his parents, place and date of marriage, name of wife with her data in the same order, occupation of the founder, political office, place of family residence and last, in brackets, page references to Volume I (an index). In the case that any of this information is not known, the order is maintained, simply omitting that item. In a few cases the father of the family did not, himself, come to Walpole, but he is included because that has seemed the simplest way to show the family as a unit in Walpole.

Couples whose only record was the birth of an unnamed child have been omitted, as well as couples who obviously came to Walpole from elsewhere, only to be married.

One line of descent has been followed at a time. The first digit of the number indicates the number of the generation from the founder; the second digit the number of the child of that father. Hence, 11 is the first born child of the founder; 12 indicates the second born, etc. If he had more than nine children the 10th child becomes 19 + 1, the eleventh 19 + 2, etc. If the order in which the children were born is unknown, all children in that immediate family are designated 1-, thereby showing only the generation. Occasionally children born before the father came to Walpole never came to Walpole and had no connection with the town, yet they are known to exist. In such case the first child appearing in this genealogy may be, for example, 13 or 17.

Following this system the second generation is designated with the digit 2. A grandchild of the founder is 21 or 22. A great-grandchild is 31 or 32.

We have endeavored to use only original data wherever available. For example, it might have been easier for the reader had we calculated the birthdate when all we have is a gravestone giving date of death and age (79/3/10). Yet we have felt that providing the original data gives some indication of the source and reliability of the information.

Occasionally the reader will be perplexed in sorting out the children from successive wives or husbands. Where we are not certain, we try to leave the data, as found, to help those who may have, from other sources, more information to guide them.

In any event we trust that we, having combed the records of the Town, will have provided the historian and the genealogist a source which may save him time. It will save our worn and crumbling records from much handling.

CREDITS

We, the History Committee, cannot give credit in just proportion to all who have helped us with this HISTORY OF WALPOLE. Many have contributed generously in work, ideas and memories. Each contribution has had value even if it is not immediately apparent in the text. Much good material supplied did not find its way into the final version due only to lack of space, yet the HISTORY is richer from the choice which was available.

In a project which continues for over ten years there are bound to be some whose early interest and activity are cut short by illness, death or moving. Others must take their place and carry on, fully aware of the importance of the early work.

We acknowledge the unwavering support which the Board of Directors of the Walpole Historical Society has provided over the years. In listing the current directors and officers, who saw the HISTORY to publication, let it be a tribute to those directors of other years who gave the same kind of support throughout the preparation of this book.

We are especially appreciative of the lively interest and consistent cooperation of the Selectmen of Walpole: Louis S. Ballam, Lawrence W. Graves and Harold T. Killeen. A joint venture between a Town and a Society might not have been easy but it has been for us.

Among those who supplied stories and memories to the author are: Hazel E. Buswell, Thomas Graves, Ira S. Hubbard, Mabel Jennison, Bertha L. Leonard, John W. Prentiss III, James W. Shaughnessy, Marion S. Weymouth and Clifford A. Wilbur.

Among those who supplied written material not covered with a byline in the text are: Guy H. Bemis, Nancy H. Hubbard, Oliver J. Hubbard, Rev. John B. McQuaid and Herbert R. Tucker.

Among those who supplied old pictures are: Robert S. Ball, Walter I. Felch, Albert H. Fletcher, Merium Foster, Nancy H. Hubbard, John W. Prentiss III, Galen G.

Tiffany, the Bellows Falls Library and the Bellows Falls Times. Our own files were well stocked through the work of our Curator for many years, Herbert R. Tucker.

Among those who took photographs for this book are: Wallace L. Baker (Baker), Frank Driscoll (Driscoll), George R. Harris (Harris), Russell Hastings (Hastings), Herbert E. Watkins (Watkins), and John H. Williams (Williams). In addition we used 14 pictures taken by the Historic American Buildings Survey in 1959 and now available from the Library of Congress (LibCong).

Among those who made special searches for material are: Carol E. Hubbard, Lester W. Manning, Natalie E. Nelson, Joanne Smith, Herbert R. Tucker and John H. Williams.

Among those who copied data from gravestones are: Geraldine Murray and Mary A. Perham.

Among those who read copy or proof are: Marion W. Andros, Margaret M. Balam, Doris Brainard, Jessie M. Graves, Carol E. Hubbard, Rense Kolvoord, Merriam Plumb, Blanche Randall, Frances Potter, Dorothy Rising, Lulu D. Sargent, Elizabeth Sawyer, Beatrice Spitzli and Mary Anna Tatem.

When the preparation of this HISTORY was in its early stages Ellen Bellows Endicott and Mabel H. Hoyt kept the project active when the goal of publication may have seemed remote to others. Their interest has persisted.

A substantial business effort is needed in addition to editorial work. Eloise Williams, our Sales Manager, has arranged for marketing the HISTORY with skill and continuing energy. Malcolm D. Williams and Marion K. Bemis have been in constant consultation on business arrangements.

To all who have helped in these or other ways we give our thanks.
